PIRATES IN THE CLASSROOM

Luke and Lisa sail with Paula to Germany.

"This is Seedorf. This is my school," says Luke.

Luke, Lisa and Paula go into to the classroom of class 4b.

"Good morning, girls and boys!" says the teacher.

"What about me?" asks Paula.

"Good morning, girls, boys and pirates!" says the teacher.

Luke, Lisa, Paula the Pirate Queen and the class 4b answer: "Good morning, Mrs. Fischer!"

"Open your books on page 10, please. Read the story. Work with your neighbour. Tell him about pirates and ships."

The children read and talk. But Paula says, "Please, Mrs. Fischer, everything in this story is wrong! I am a pirate! I know about ships. Can I tell you?"

"Come to the front, please."

"I have an idea," says Paula. "I tell you my story about ships and pirates. You play everything that I say!"

So Paula tells her story. Luke, Lisa and the class 4b play the "ffffff" of the wind, the "slush, slush" of the water and the "flap, flap" of the sails. They carry heavy treasure boxes. They dig holes in the sand and hide their treasure boxes. They jump from their ships and swim in the sea.

All the children and the teacher laugh. This is a great lesson! "Homework!" says Paula. "Draw a map. Or you will never find your treasure boxes again."

The teacher-pupil-game

1 Play with your neighbour. One of you is the teacher, one is the pupil.

In every game, the teacher says three sentences.
Then he/she is the pupil and the other child is the teacher.

Game 1: The teacher says a sentence. The pupil does what he is told.
Teacher: "Open your book!" – Pupil opens his book.

Game 2: The teacher says a sentence. But he makes no noise, he only moves his lips! The pupil does what he is "told".

Game 3: The teacher says a sentence in German.
The pupil says the correct English sentence.

For every correct action, the pupil colours in a pirate coin.
Collect your treasure!

You can say these sentences:

Open your book!
Open your pencil case!
Take out your pen!
Show me your felt-tips!
Put your book away!
Put your hand up, please!
Stand up, please!

Can you think of more sentences?
