Was beinhaltet dieser Prüfungsteil?

Beim Expressive Reading liest du zunächst einen Text vor und beantwortest im Anschluss Fragen dazu.

Keine Sorge, wenn beim Vorlesen einige Wörter und deren Betonung für dich neu sind oder du einzelne Fragen zu den Übungstexten nicht gleich beantworten kannst – für die Prüfung bekommst du in der Regel zuvor mehrere Texte, die du zu Hause vorbereiten kannst. Einer davon wird dir dann in der Prüfung vorgelegt. Du solltest mit den Texten, die du von deiner Schule bekommst, gut vertraut sein – dazu gehört auch, dass du die Bedeutung von dir unbekanntem Wörtern nachschlägst und übst, sie richtig auszusprechen. Außerdem solltest du den Inhalt der Texte sehr gut kennen.

Die folgenden Beispieltexte sollen dir helfen, den Umgang mit den verschiedenen Textsorten zu erlernen und das Vortragen sowie die Beantwortung textgebundener Fragen zu üben.

Wie bereite ich mich vor?

Im Folgenden findest du Beispiele zu den Textarten funny tales („Witze“), non-fictional texts („Sachtexte“) und fables („Fabeln“).

Versuche, die Texte flüssig und gut betont vorzutragen. Lasse dir beim Lesen Zeit und bemühe dich, gleich möglichst viel vom Inhalt zu verstehen und dir zu merken.

Decke anschließend den Text ab und versuche, die dazugehörigen Fragen zu beantworten. Im Lösungsteil kannst du deine Antworten danach kontrollieren.

Arbeitet idealerweise zu zweit zusammen.

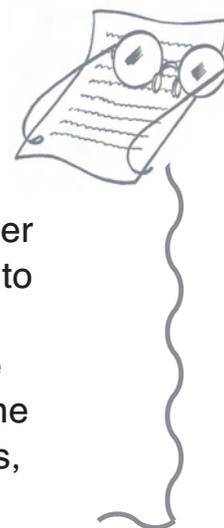

Text 1

a) Read the text aloud.

One day and one night

One day Harry comes home from the doctor. He's very depressed because the doctor told him that he only had one day left to live. When he talks to his wife about those terrible news, she asks him after a while, "What do you want to do with the rest of your time?" "I'd like to spend this time with you," Harry answers seriously. So they spend the rest of the day together until it's four o'clock in the early morning. Finally Harry's wife explains that she's so tired that she can't stay awake any more. Harry begs her not to sleep, but she says, "I have to get up tomorrow, you know? – You don't."

b) Now answer the following questions without looking at the text again:

- Why is Harry so depressed when he comes home from the doctor?
- How does Harry's wife react to the dreadful news?
- What does Harry reply?
- What time is it when Harry's wife finally wants to sleep?
- What's the joke of the story?

Text 2

a) Read the text aloud.

Poor grandpa!

It's the fifth lesson on a hot Wednesday, one week before the summer vacation.

Paul is sitting on his chair in class, staring at the blackboard, but thinking about what he'll do during the holidays. Suddenly he startles because the teacher shouts, "Paul! Wake up from your daydreams and tell your grandpa to visit me on Thursday during my office hour."

"O-okay," Paul babbles, surprised, "but shouldn't my dad come instead of my grandpa?"

"No," the teacher replies, "I want to show your grandpa how many mistakes his son made in your homework."

b) Now answer the following questions without looking at the text again:

- On which day does the story take place?
- What is Paul thinking about when his teacher suddenly begins to shout?
- What does the teacher tell Paul to do?
- How does Paul react?
- What's the joke of the story?

Text 3

a) Read the text aloud.

A great offer

Today is Tuesday and George has an appointment with his boss because he hopes to get some more money for his job.

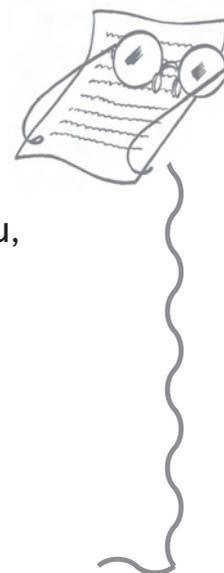

“What would you suggest,” his boss asks, “how much shall I give you, so that you’re pleased?”

“Well, I thought you could give me about $5,000 per month,” George replies.

“Yes – and what do you think about ten weeks paid holidays, a Lamborghini as company car and $1,000 Christmas bonus?”

“Wow!” George answers amazed, “are you joking?”

“Yes,” the boss replies, “but you started with it.”

b) Now answer the following questions without looking at the text again:

- What day is it when George has an appointment with his boss?
- Why does George want to talk to his boss?
- The boss offers George some great things: Can you give one or two examples?
- How does George react to his boss' suggestions?
- What's the joke of the story?
