Jack and his stepfather Matt go to Venice Beach. Venice Beach is Jack's favourite place in the whole world. Jack meets his friends so they can play basketball. But his stepbrother Dave isn't there.

Jack: Hey dad, where is Dave?

Matt: Dave can't come. I'm sorry, Jack. He must help his mom wash the car.

Jack: That's not fair! It's my birthday! We can't win without him!

Matt: Come on Jack, you can try. You and your friends make a good team. You can play against the kids over there.

Matt points at some kids on the basketball court.

Jack: I know those kids. They play for the high school team. They're too good for us.

Jack is nervous, but he walks over to the basketball court and asks: Hey, can we play you?

Kid on the court: Hahahaha! You? Ok, but you have no chance.

Jack's team can't score a basket. It's bad! After ten minutes, a boy walks up to the sideline. It's Dave! Dave is two years older than Jack. He is a great player, and a fantastic scorer.

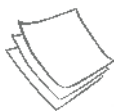

Dave: Hey Jack, can I come in?

Jack: Dave, you're here!

Dave: Yeah, sorry, I'm late. Danny is tired. I can play for him. Come on. We can win this.

Dave comes in for Danny, and he scores. The high school kids are shocked.
