1. Listen, draw and colour the fruit Mrs. Winkler buys.

It's Saturday morning at the market. Mrs. Winkler wants to make a fruit salad.

Listen to the dialogue, draw and colour the fruit she buys.

Mrs. Winkler is at the fruit stand.

Mrs. W: Good morning, Madame. Would you please help me? I would like to buy some fruit for my fruit salad.

Woman: Morning! I would love to help you. What can I get for you?

Mrs. W: I would like three red apples and three yellow bananas, please.

Woman: Of, course! Anything else?

Mrs. W: Yes, please! I would like to have five of these red strawberries.

Woman: Yes, of course! What about these green pears?

Mrs. W: No, thanks! But I take ten of these purple plums.

Woman: Is that all?

Mrs. W: Yes, it is. Thank you!

2. Listen, draw and colour the vegetables Mr. Miller buys.

We are at the vegetable stand with Mr. Miller. He wants to buy some vegetables to make a vegetable soup for lunch.

Listen to the dialogue, draw and colour the vegetables he buys.

Mr. M.: Good morning. I would like to buy some veggies for my vegetable soup.

Woman: Sure! Tell me what you like.

Mr. M: I would like some of the green and red peppers here.

Woman: Sure, how many do you like?

Mrs. M: I would like two red and two green peppers, please. And please give me four of those orange carrots.

Woman: Of course! Anything else?

Mr. M: I would also like three of these yellow and green corn cobs.

Woman: Would you also like some brown potatoes?

Mr. M: Yes, please. I take five of them. Thank you very much.

Woman: You're welcome!
