Jim and his family live in a cottage in a little town by the sea. In the morning, he rides his bicycle to school. In the afternoon, after he has finished his homework, he walks to the beach.

He has a surfboard which he keeps in a little surf shop. The man who works there rents out storage space. It's handy because Jim doesn't have to carry his surfboard around with him all the time.

Today it's very hot. Jim only wants to surf for a short time. Later, he is going to meet his friends at the beach. They want to go swimming.

They're already there when he arrives. And Maya is there, too ...

10 His friends are lying under a tree which looks a little like a palm tree. Two girls are throwing a Frisbee, and four boys are playing beachball.

Some of his friends brought coconuts with them. It almost feels like the summer holidays are already here.
